

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

F O R E W O R D

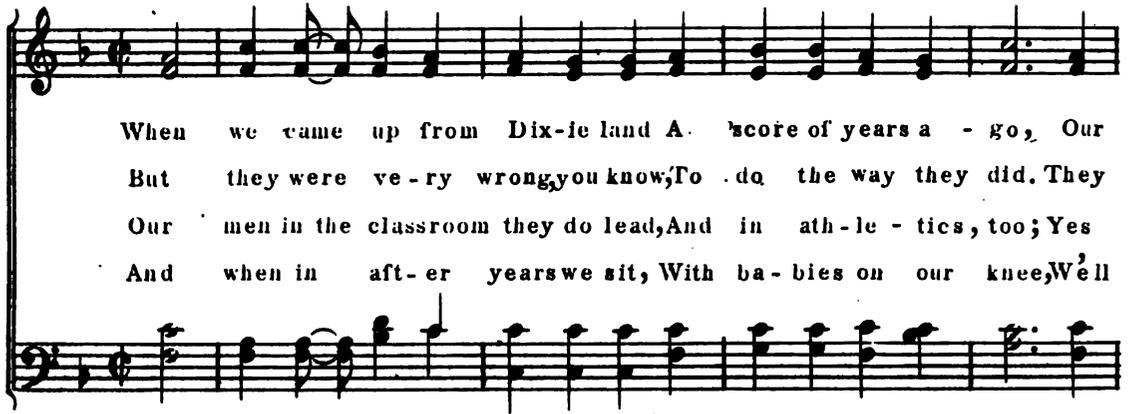

Songs of Sigma Alpha Epsilon is intended to take the place of previous editions of our national song books, Songs of Sigma Alpha Epsilon, which were published in 1907 and 1915. The entire edition of the earlier books is now exhausted and this volume, which is an amended and revised copy, will now be distributed to the chapters for the general purposes of fraternity song. The advent of The Songs of Sigma Alpha Epsilon a dozen years ago was followed by a revival of S. A. E. singing in the chapters throughout the country. Chapter singing is now almost universal. The custom of singing at the table has become general in the fraternity. The chapter which does not sing is the exception and its isolation is an unhappy one. In this volume are several new and capital songs, which appear for the first time. But few selections which appeared in the first book have been omitted and those which have are left out for necessary reasons.

The work of Walter Squire, who gave of his talent and ability in editing the music in the first edition of The Songs of Alpha Epsilon, will be apparent in the large volume of material from that book retained in this. We said of him in our introduction to that work and we repeat it here: "He has brought a musical education of the first order to the work and with his knowledge has united careful and critical judgment. Many similar publications are practically useless, due to the difficulty of the key signatures and accompaniments, but he has avoided this fault by keeping within the more familiar keys and simplifying somewhat the piano parts. Knowing that songs of this character are usually sung in unison, he has placed the melody in the compass common to most male voices, centering middle 'e' and the octave below. The wise rule of having the melody appear in the first tenor part and to be played by the right hand when piano accompaniments are used, was also adopted. In a few instances where the music is distinctly in quartette style the melody is taken by the baritone." This issue has been generously enriched by the new songs of a number of the brothers, and particularly by the contributions of O. K. Quivey, whose musical gifts to Sigma Alpha Epsilon will live through the years.

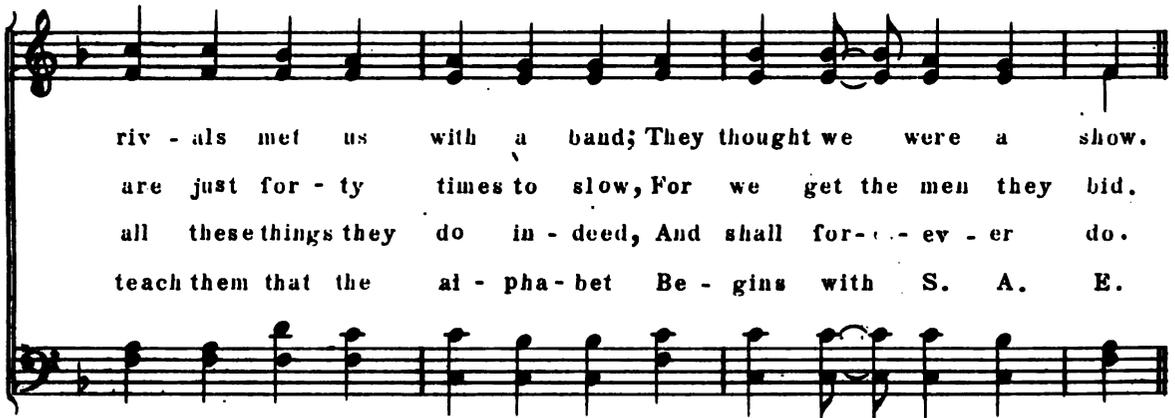

This book is sent out to our chapters with the earnest wish that they may make the best possible use of its riches of S. A. E. Song. I urge that they be not content with mastering a half dozen of the selections, but that they make excursions into the unknown and untried wealth of material it possesses, and I venture they will find their quest amply rewarded.

 Chorus.

Oh, Daniel in the lion's den
 Was happy as could be,
 For the lions said we will not harm
 A brother S. A. E.
 Chorus.

And when at last we're dead and gone
 To sail that fiery sea,
 We'll twist the devil by the tail
 And yell for S. A. E.
 Chorus.

Oh, Sigma Alpha Epsilon,
 And Sigma Alpha, too!
 Where'er these names are heard in song
 There are some brothers true.
 Chorus.

The credit for this song, one of the best the fraternity has belongs to George H. Kress and Alford K. Nippert, tho they should not beheld responsible for others than the first three and the last verses.

The third system concludes with: "quett - ing with sun - beams and kissed by thy show'rs. last col - lege dome to the dust has been hurled." The piano accompaniment features chords and melodic lines that support the vocal melody.

In the language of flowers, true love is thy meaning ;
And from thee thoughts divine may be had for the gleaning :
Aiding to live and from wickedness weaning .

Thou hast nature's own colors, the purple and gold,
More brilliant in beauty as autumn grows old
And strong forests tremble at winter's first cold.

In the autumn of life, Death would fain cut us down ;
But we gaze in his face now, without fret or frown,
For tranquil are souls with a violet crown .

May we spread far and wide, in these states grand and free
The teachings embodied, dear Violet in thee ;
And the world will then rise and bless dear S. A. E.

WE LIFT OUR VOICES

Tune: Russian Hymn

Oliver E. Boehmer

Indiana Alpha

We lift our voices and our hearts to thee
 No foe shall chant o'er thee the victor's song
 Thy glowing deeds thy cherished sons have wrought

A votive song for our fraternity
 Until the right is vanquished by the wrong
 Will ever live in heart and in most thought

In gratefulness and love we sing thy praise
 No traitors son shall bring the blush of shame
 To lead us on until the heights are won

THE BANNER OF OUR BROTHERHOOD

Tune: Ben Bolt

Words by O. L. Hall

Ill. Psi-Omega

Arr. by W. S.

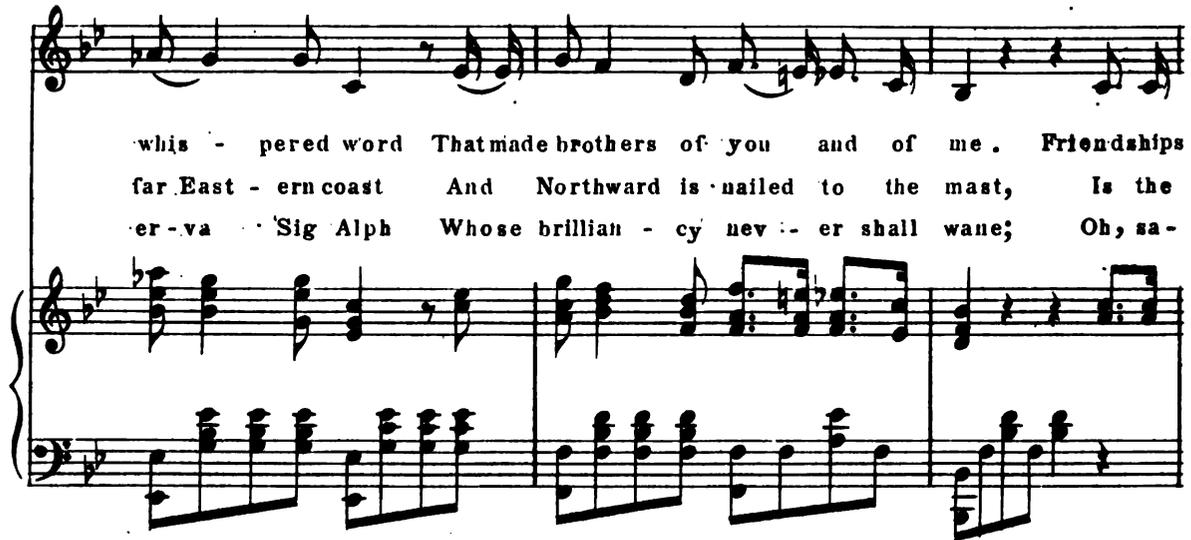

The first system of the musical score is a piano introduction. It consists of two staves: a treble clef staff and a bass clef staff. The music is in 2/4 time and begins with a series of chords in the right hand and a rhythmic bass line in the left hand.

The second system contains the first line of the vocal melody and its piano accompaniment. The vocal line is on a single treble clef staff, and the piano accompaniment is on two staves (treble and bass clef). The lyrics are:

Well does he know he's a-bout to be fed. Vic-tims a-dore him!
There is a scare in his hyp-not-ic glance. Mer-ci-ful Pet-er!
Smiles ve-ry sweet-ly and licks his chops clean. Loud-ly he trumpets!

Bow at his shrine! Make him be-lieve he's real-ly sub-lime. Pray for the Saints do for-fend! By his wild actions we are near-ing the end. One moment
Kneel, Vic-tim Kneel! If he should hurt you just let out a squeal. T'will soon be Tempo di Marcia.

The musical score is written for piano and consists of five systems of music. The first system begins with the tempo marking "Tempo di Marcia." The music is in 2/8 time and features a mix of eighth and sixteenth notes, often beamed together. The second system continues the melodic and harmonic development. The third system includes an accent (^) over a note in the right hand. The fourth system contains a first ending (marked "1") and a second ending (marked "2"). The fifth system concludes the piece with dynamic markings of ff (fortissimo) and mf (mezzo-forte). The score is a piano accompaniment for a march.

The first system of music consists of two staves. The upper staff is in treble clef and the lower staff is in bass clef. The key signature has one sharp (F#). The music is marked with a forte (ff) dynamic. The upper staff contains a complex melodic line with many beamed notes, while the lower staff provides a rhythmic accompaniment with chords and single notes.

The second system continues the piece. It features a mezzo-forte (mf) dynamic. The upper staff has a melodic line with some rests and a first ending bracketed with a '1'. The lower staff continues with a steady accompaniment. The system concludes with a second ending bracketed with a '2'.

Trio.

The Trio section begins with a change in dynamics and texture. The upper staff features a more spacious melodic line with long notes and ties. The lower staff provides a consistent accompaniment with chords and eighth notes.

The middle of the Trio section shows a continuation of the melodic and accompanimental themes. The upper staff has a flowing melodic line, and the lower staff maintains a steady accompaniment with some syncopation.

The lower part of the Trio section is marked with a piano (p) dynamic. The upper staff has a melodic line with some rests, and the lower staff features a more active accompaniment with chords and eighth notes.

The final system of the Trio section shows the melodic and accompanimental lines coming to a close. The upper staff has a melodic line with some ties, and the lower staff provides a final accompaniment with chords and eighth notes.

First system of musical notation, featuring a treble and bass clef. The music includes various note values and rests. A dynamic marking of mf is present in the second measure of the bass line.

Second system of musical notation. It includes dynamic markings of ff in the first measure of the bass line, f in the second measure, and ff in the fourth measure.

Third system of musical notation. It features a dynamic marking of ffz in the final measure of the bass line.

Fourth system of musical notation. It begins with the dynamic marking ff Grandioso. in the first measure of the bass line.

Fifth system of musical notation, continuing the piece with various note values and rests.

Tempo di Polka.

The musical score is written for piano in 2/4 time. It consists of four systems of two staves each. The first system begins with a dynamic marking of f and includes a section marked pp Grazioso. The second system features a section marked Delicato. The third system includes dynamic markings of f and ff. The score concludes with a final cadence in the fourth system. The key signature has one sharp (F#) and the time signature is 2/4.

This musical score consists of six systems of music. The first five systems are for piano, each with a grand staff (treble and bass clefs). The sixth system is for a Trio section, indicated by the word "Trio." on the left. The piano systems feature various dynamics including ff, up, and f, and include musical notations such as triplets and rests. The Trio section is in 4/4 time and features dynamics p and f. The page is numbered 186 in the top left corner.

First system of musical notation. It consists of a grand staff with a treble clef on the upper staff and a bass clef on the lower staff. The music is in a key with one sharp (F#) and a 2/4 time signature. The first measure is marked with a dynamic of mf. The second measure is marked rit. and the third measure is marked a tempo. The notation includes chords and eighth-note patterns in both hands.

Second system of musical notation, continuing the piece. It features similar chordal textures and rhythmic patterns as the first system, with a p dynamic marking appearing in the right hand of the third measure.

Third system of musical notation. The right hand begins with a f dynamic marking. The system shows a continuation of the harmonic and rhythmic material, with some melodic movement in the right hand.

Fourth system of musical notation. The right hand starts with a pp dynamic marking. The texture is primarily chordal, with some eighth-note accompaniment in the bass line.

Fifth system of musical notation. This system continues the chordal texture established in the previous systems, with consistent rhythmic accompaniment in the bass line.

First system of musical notation. The treble clef staff contains a complex melodic line with many beamed notes and accidentals. The bass clef staff contains a rhythmic accompaniment with chords and single notes. A dynamic marking of ff is present in the first measure.

Second system of musical notation. Similar to the first system, it features a busy treble staff and a supporting bass staff. A dynamic marking of ff appears in the fourth measure.

Third system of musical notation. The treble staff continues with intricate melodic patterns, while the bass staff provides a steady accompaniment.

Fourth system of musical notation. The treble staff has a more active melodic line. A dynamic marking of pp is located in the first measure.

Fifth system of musical notation. The treble staff features a series of beamed notes, and the bass staff continues with its accompaniment.

Sixth system of musical notation. The treble staff has a dense texture of notes. A dynamic marking of f is present in the second measure. The system concludes with a double bar line.
